NEWS FROM THE UNIVERSITY

By Robt. Madry
Chapel Hill, Mar. 5.—With the return of warm weather the University Battalion has taken on a new spirit and life that bodes ill to the wary Bosche.

Friday competitive drill between the four companies was held on Emerson field, and the results plainly indicated that the finer points of both close order and extended order drill have been thoroughly worked out.

This spring, for the first few weeks at least every man in the battalion is being put through short courses in engineering, bombarding, bayonet fighting, signalling, and musketry. Firing on the range will also begin soon. The men are being instructed in all the arts of modern warfare.

The trenches, which were vacated during the cold weather, now look like the Hindenburg line after the battle of the Somme. But, with the advent of warm weather and as soon as Spring comes to stay, the part of the part of the trenches which have caved in will be reconstructed, thus paving the way on early spring attack. Recently pictures have been made of the whole battalion, of each company separately, and of all the officers together.

The final plans for the Asheville summer camp at Bingham School have been announced by Captain Allen. The course of training is primarily designed for High School students between the ages of 16 and 20 and for college men not subject to immediate draft.

The number attending the camp will be limited to 150, and consequently Captain Allen urges that all those expecting to attend hand their applications in as early as possible. A well designed bulletin of the camp, containing cuts of the University battalion, trenches buildings and scenes at Bingham can be secured upon request.

The camp will be under the direction of the University, while Captain Allen and W. A. Blount and Bingham McKee student officers, will be in charge.

RED CROSS HAS NOVEL FEATURE

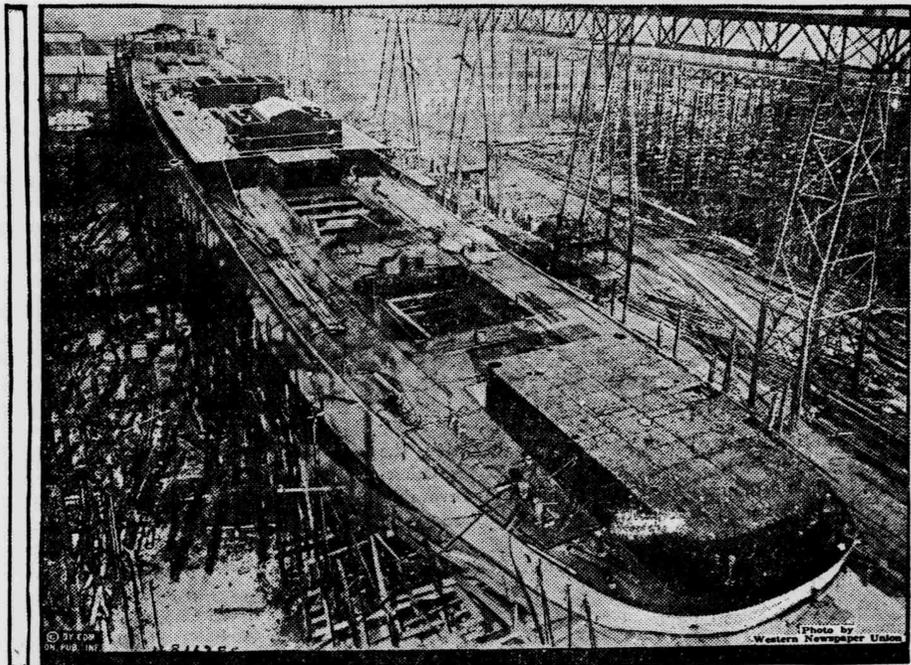

(By UNITED PRESS)
Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 5.—According to a cable which has just been received from Milan at the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross at Washington, the Red Cross Commission to Italy has just added a new and picturesque branch to its many activities by sending to the front two "rolling canteens". The object of these canteens, which are really kitchens on wheels, is to furnish hot food to the soldiers in the front line trenches.

Two New York Men, Lieutenant Gardiner Penniman and Lieutenant Edward Mackey, have charge of these first rolling canteen units. Just before starting to the front a reception was given to the departing officers at the Red Cross rest house in Milan, to which American and Italian officials were invited.

Four additional rolling canteen units will be sent out next week.

The work of the local Red Cross is going on apace altogether there has not been much talk of what the ladies are accomplishing.

Skilled workmen are being formed into a huge industrial army under the department of labor, and each worker will receive a certificate and a button showing him to be a volunteer in this work upon which directly rests the fate of world-wide democracy.
